This assignment was way longer than expected and it completely took me off guard. Because of this, I was barely able to finish it on time.

Although this assignment was not that hard to do, I had a few close calls, like when I almost gave myself a heart attack at 10:30 at night because I didn't think I was going to find the error in my code on time. Luckily, I managed to find it in much less time and finish the project.

The main lesson that this taught me was to never procrastinate, but I'm probably going to forget that and have the same heart attack again in the future.

I addition, I simply cannot win when it comes to installing fx, and I will just have to deal with that.

Other than all of that, and the fact that I am not confident that my code is 100% efficient or works 100% of the time, this was just another project for me.